Additional Services

We offer the following additional services:

FLAME-RETARDANT FINISHING

Zimmer-Rohde can offer fire-retardant finish as long as the composition of a chosen fabric is suitable for such treatment. Please let us know the required target standard for the finish.

A corresponding Certificate of Conformity will be issued upon the completion of the service. Pricing is available upon request. Please note that textile finishes are not permanent and treated goods may lose their flame-retardant properties through washing or dry cleaning.

STAIN PROTECTION FINISH

If required, we can treat goods with stain protection, the price of which is available upon request.

Please note that textile finishes are not permanent and treated goods may lose their stain protection properties through washing or dry cleaning.

WEIGHTING TAPE SERVICE

On request, we can also sew on a normal weighting tape or a double weighting tape (on both hems). The articles for which this is possible can be found in the fabric overview. The prices are a surcharge on the basic fabric.

Instructions

Product Disclaimer

Our fabrics are crafted from the highest quality natural fibers. By their very nature, these materials display unique characteristics that contribute to their beauty and authenticity. These include irregularities in weave, natural slubs, color variations, shading, pile direction, and dimensional changes. Such features are inherent to the fibers and should not be considered defects.

It is the customer's responsibility to ensure proper application, usage, and care of the fabric. This includes considering seam allowances, backing, pattern repeats, shrinkage tolerances, appropriate environmental conditions, and correct care methods.

Guidline to shrinkage and extension of textiles

Fabrics are prone to shrinkage through humidity, washing and dry cleaning. The level of shrinkage depends on the compositions of the individual fabrics. Natural fibers, in particular, react to the indoor climate by a slight jump or elongation. The following are the commercial tolerance levels which are acceptable with regard to shrinkage resp. extension:

• Synthetic Fabrics	2%
• Silk	1- 3%
• Cotton	1- 4%
• Viscose	3 - 5%
• Linen	5 - 7%

Exact figures cannot be given due to the varied individual uses to which fabrics are put. No complaints can be entertained for shrinkage or extension within these limits. We always recommend leaving a generous allowance for hems when sewing curtains and loose covers

Fabric information

Natural products

Silk, linen, and cotton are pure natural products. Delicately woven, these designs may show slight irregularities, such as bar marks and broken threads. This is accepted as the natural quality and expression of this textile.

Irregularities in these natural products are caused by a range of environmental factors that can lead to variations in the colour and structure of the fabric. These unavoidable characteristics occur naturally and do not denote a fault in the fabric. An exact shade of colour for these materials cannot be guaranteed.

Upholstery fabrics

Please note that non colour fast clothing textiles can cause discolouration on pale coloured upholstery fabrics.

Light fastness

'Fastness to light' is the ability of the fabric to withstand the effects of light (sun, artificial light, etc). Despite using the best base materials and techniques, absolute light fastness is not possible and natural fabrics will vary in their light fast capabilities and reactions. We therefore recommend suitable protection from the effects of light, particularly for fabrics which contain silk and linen.

Pilling

Textile surfaces can potentially become slightly rough during use. Small balls of fabric, known as pills, gather on the surface. These can be removed using a suitable fluff or lint remover (similar to an electric razor) without affecting the durability of the fabric.

Seat area

When using Velvet or Chenille products as upholstery, varying humidity, temperature, and air pressure may cause irregular shading due to different angles in the lay of the pile. This may give rise to slight changes in its appearance, which are not indications of inferior quality.

General Considerations for all Fabrics

- Environmental Impact: Fabrics may shrink or stretch up to 3% due to changes in humidity, temperature, or seasonal variations. This is an accepted industry tolerance.
- Moisture Sensitivity: Natural fibers, velvets, and chenilles are prone to water staining. Avoid contact with liquids and steam.
- Sunlight/UV Exposure: Direct sunlight can cause fading, discoloration, weakening, or "sun rot," especially in silks and linens. Protective lining or placement away from UV exposure is recommended.
- Pilling: Pilling is a natural occurrence in many fibers and does not indicate a defect. Pills can typically be removed with a fabric shaver.
- Care: Unless otherwise specified, dry cleaning is recommended. Avoid high heat, harsh chemicals, or mechanical agitation.

Flame-retardant finish

Orders exceeding the indicated quantity can also be supplied in Trevira CS/FR.

Articles with permanent flame-retardant finish.

We supply you with flame-retardant treated articles that are suitable for this type of treatment due to their material composition. Please let us know the required target standard for the finish. We will check the possibility of finishing and issue you with a corresponding certificate (Certificate of Conformity) once the finishing has been completed. We will provide you with binding prices for the respective finishing on request.

YOU HAVE PURCHASED A HIGH QUALITY PRODUCT FROM ZIMMER + ROHDE. PRIOR TO WORKING WITH THIS PRODUCT, WE ASK THAT YOU TAKE CAREFUL NOTE OF THE FOLLOWING ADVICE AND INSTRUCTIONS.

1. General guidelines

Important to note before use: Check the product to ensure that the batch numbers are identical and that there are no faults ZR recommends that you examine the results after hanging 2–3 strips. Further use indicates acceptance of the product. The guarantee only covers the replacement of faulty goods and not the costs associated with consequential damage. Please note that different batches may exhibit slight variations in texture and colour.

2. Instructions for use

2.1. Preparing the wall

The wall surface must be dry, smooth, of neutral colour, stable and absorbent. Smooth rough surfaces beforehand using a gypsum-based filler. Unevenness in the wall surface becomes visible on smooth and glossy wall coverings. Apply a primer to highly absorbent wall surfaces. To achieve a neutral-coloured background, use a white primer, such as a wallpaper base for fleece wallpaper.

2.2. Adhesive

Use a high-quality fleece wallpaper adhesive with the wall adhesion technique.

2.3. Cutting and pasting

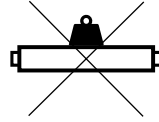

Cut the strips to the required lengths plus an additional 4–5 cm leeway. In doing so, consider the repeat of the pattern. Paste the prepared wall in strips evenly and not too thickly. Unroll the cut strips onto the slightly dried pasted area and press down using a wallpaper roller to remove bubbles. Trim away excess paper at the edges and corners. Wrap outer corners using at least 15 cm. Only use a seam roller with a smooth surface. Avoid strong heat and drafts during drying. Note that varying light sources can influence the final visual effect within the room.

Attention: Excess adhesive can cause stains on the surface. Paste stains must be removed immediately using a clean, damp sponge. Dab the affected area dry with a cloth. Repeat this process until all traces have been removed. Do not scrub, as this may damage the surface.

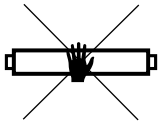

PILE FABRIC / VELVET

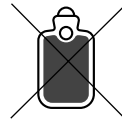

Always roll up against the direction of the line

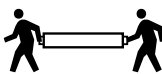

Do not load the pile
(do not place any objects on it,
do not use stretch film packaging)

Do not grip in the center

Do not place heat sources such as a hot water bottle or laptop on the textile

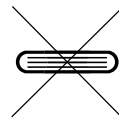

Always carry with 2 people

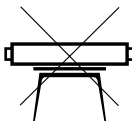

Use suspension device

Do not place vertically

Do not fold

Do not lay on edges or pull over edges

Important before processing: Immediately report any noticeable defects. The guarantee only covers the replacement of defective goods, not the costs of consequential damage caused by improper handling or storage.

Transportation, processing and storage

- Goods must be stored hanging, not resting and horizontally. It is essential to avoid resting or placing the castors on top of each other.
- Goods must not be gripped in the middle, clamped under the arm or moved in any similar way. Always have two people gripping the cardboard tubes.
- If rewinding cannot be avoided, use cardboard rolls with a diameter of at least 5 cm or more. When re-rolling, ensure that the pile is rolled up. Parallel storage of the pile by winding it in the direction of the line increases the risk of pressure marks forming.

Cutting and finishing

- We generally recommend that you do not remove the goods from the shipping packaging when cutting velvet, especially sensitive materials such as silk velvet, if they do not have a hanging device on the cutting table
- Avoid brushing or weighing down the goods, do not place any tools on the pile

Removal of folds and pressure points

Pressure marks on velvet made of silk and other natural materials can be treated as follows:

- Leave the goods open, the velvet will straighten up again after a while if the air humidity is right
- Wipe lightly over the print area with a damp cloth (in the direction of the pile) and allow to dry completely, then brush on with a soft brush
- Process the areas using steam

Attention: No direct contact with steam appliance or iron, avoid water droplets as a matter of urgency

Pressure marks on synthetic velvet can be treated as follows be treated as follows:

- Carefully warm the product with a hair dryer at a skin-friendly temperature
- First brush the pile against the grain, then brush in the direction of the pile again
- Then allow the product to cool completely
- The process can be repeated if necessary

Attention: Avoid direct contact with the hair dryer

Seat mirror

The term "seat mirror" refers to the shifting of the pile, which can appear visually as iridescence and patch-like flattening. These can occur during use due to pressure and heat on velvet and chenille items and do not represent a quality defect or impairment. In some cases, improvement can be achieved by brushing up the pile.

General Terms and Conditions

TERMS AND CONDITIONS

1. General Explanation

Scope

Our offers, services and deliveries are made exclusively on the basis of these General Terms and Conditions. These become an integral component part of the contract upon acceptance of our offer or our service and also apply to all future business dealings, even if reference is not explicitly made hereto. We hereby explicitly exclude the application of terms and conditions of the customer that deviate from or supplement these Terms and Conditions.

Warehouse Stock

All items that we regularly have in stock in the warehouse feature in our price list.

Discontinued Items

The colourways listed in the discontinued items list are no longer produced following sale of the warehouse stock. In some instances, we still have extensive inventory stock. Please submit an enquiry as necessary.

B2B Outlet

The B2B Outlet offers available sale items. For all products listed under "discontinued items" returns are not possible. In addition, the ordered items may have minor variances in quantity of up to +/-10%. In the event of a variance, the price will be modified accordingly: the customer pays only for the actual lengths purchased.

Orders

When placing orders, we request that in addition to the article and colourway number, the order specifically states the number and length of cut fabric widths required. As a rule, orders are fulfilled without delay. If however, we are not able to immediately supply certain items, you will be provided with an order confirmation stating the expected delivery date. To speed up the order process, please always state your customer number. The customer must review the order information on receipt to verify that it is correct and complete. If the customer does not raise any objections within 5 working days, the information in the order confirmation will be authoritative for the content of the agreement. We reserve the right to request advance payment of 50 % of the order value for products that are not part of the current collection (special items or discontinued items). It is not possible to cancel such orders.

Repeating Patterns and Fabric Widths

Variations in the repeating patterns and fabric widths of up to 3 % are customary and do not establish grounds for complaint.

Repeating Pattern Designs

Articles marked "RD" = repeating pattern design can only be cut in full repeat lengths.

Fabric Composition

Fabric composition is to be stated in percentage amounts. Explanations of material symbols are provided. The symbols comply with the German Textile Labelling Act. The weights are noted in approximate values.

Tolerance

As a result of changes in air humidity, textile fabrics may shrink during use and during washing, drying and chemical cleaning. We recommend that hems are sewn to allow for shrinkage and that an additional amount is allowed for fitted covers. The degree of shrinkage may differ depending on the composition and texture of the fabric. Please note the following reference values (approx.) for shrinkage and elongation: synthetics 2 %, silk 1-3 %, cotton 1-4 %, viscose 3-5 %, linen 5-7 %

It is not possible to provide exact values due to differing individual use and handling. Shrinking and elongation within the range of the reference values does not establish grounds for complaints.

Care Instructions

Care instructions are noted for each article in the numbered directory of articles. In addition, all meterage includes a sewnon label with care instructions.

Customs Tariff No

For articles featuring the f label, due to the country of origin, we are not permitted to issue movement certificates EUR. We charge a processing fee of £ 50.00 for the issue of export documentation for deliveries with a goods value of less than £ 1,000.00.

2. Delivery and Payment Terms

Prices

Trade purchase prices are stated net; recommended sales prices are stated including VAT at the applicable statutory rate. All prices are stated in the current price list. If the customer order goods with a value of less than £ 60.00 per order, a processing surcharge of £ 5.00 per order will be added.

Transmission of Receipts by Fax or E-Mail

Instead of sending receipts by post, receipts are submitted by fax and/or e-mail. All information provided in this manner is binding. The recipient of the fax and/or e-mail must ensure appropriate paper documentation.

Delivery, Transport

Transport costs are borne by the customer. As a rule, there is no charge for packaging and rolls. The transport of goods is not insured by us and is carried out at the customer's risk. The risk passes to the customer as soon as the goods are handed over to the person carrying out the transportation or leave our warehouse for shipment. Delivery dates may be bindingly agreed, such agreement must be made in writing. Even where binding delivery dates have been agreed, we are not responsible for delays to delivery and performance caused by force major events. We are at any time entitled to make partial deliveries and to render partial performance. Invoice deductions for the disposal of packaging material, in particular transport packaging, are not permissible.

Call-off orders are permissible; a time limit must be set for such orders when concluding the contract. The call-off period is permitted to be no more than 12 months. Delivery terms ex works; other agreements are legally binding only where these have been confirmed in writing.

Default, Force Major

If the customer does not accept the goods on time, we may set a reasonable additional deadline for acceptance. As a rule, this additional period is 12 days. On expiry of the deadline, we are entitled, specifically, to charge the customer for any damage attributable to the non-acceptance and/or to cancel the contract. The customer must, if necessary, demonstrate that they were not responsible for the non-acceptance.

In the event that non-binding delivery dates are not met, we enter into default only if, on expiry of the delivery date, the customer provides a reasonable additional period of 14 days and we also fail to deliver within this time.

The customer's cancellation of the contract based on our failure to meet the delivery date is conditional on the fruitless expiry of an additional period, set in writing, of at least 14 days together with written threat of cancellation unless pursuant to the applicable legal rules, by means of exception it is not necessary to set such additional period.

If we are temporarily unable to meet a delivery date as a result of force major events, labour disputes or for other reasons beyond our control or if the delivery is rendered significantly more difficult (delay to delivery), the delivery period is extended for the duration of such impediment. All of our services are subject to correct and timely delivery to us. We are not responsible for delays to deliveries by our suppliers.

In the same way, any additional period allowed as well as the acceptance period for the customer will be extended. We will advise the customer of any such delay to delivery. This does not establish any claim to damages for the customer; they may only cancel the contract due to the delay to delivery if, as a result of the delay, the delivery is no longer of interest for them or the transaction was for delivery on a fixed date. If we failed to notify the customer of the delay to delivery, they may cancel the contract without having to fulfil any further conditions if the original delivery date was exceeded by more than 5 weeks.

Shipment Handling for Fabrics measuring 300-330 cm wide

300-330 cm wide fabric meterage over 25 m: shipped rolled along the entire width. Meterage of up to 25 m: shipped in automatically machine packed cardboard boxes. Based on the quality and on special request, quantities of less than 25 m are also shipped rolled widthwise. This results in increased transport costs for the customer.

Caveats

The delivered goods are subject to customary industry deviations in the structure and colour, provided these deviations are attributable to the nature of the materials used or the manufacturing process. In the case of brightly coloured single-colour articles, fiberabrasion or colour abrasion cannot be excluded. Please inspect all goods prior to processing to verify the quality, colour, measurements, and imperfections, since any complaints made after cutting or commencement of other processing of the delivered items will not be accepted. Legitimate complaints can be taken into account only if they are received by us within five days of receipt of the goods. In the case of legitimate complaints, the goods will be replaced; other claims going above and beyond this are excluded. Defects that cannot be identified within this time despite close inspection are to be notified to us, in writing, immediately upon discovery. Erroneously ordered fabrics as well as cut orders can be returned to us only under special exceptional circumstances, subject to a charge for cutting loss of $\leq 20\text{ m} = 20\%$; $> 20\text{ m} = 10\%$. Please be aware that meterages of less than 2.50 m will not be taken back. Please state the invoice number with all returns. The relevant amount will be credited following deduction of any return delivery costs incurred. We reserve the right to credit a lower amount for returns that are rolled or packaged incorrectly.

Warranty

For the period of 12 months from the passage of risk, we assume a warranty in respect of the customer that the delivered items are free from defects within the meaning of the commercial law provisions on warranties in the German Civil Code (Bürgerliches Gesetzbuch, BGB). We are not liable for the consequences of improper use, processing, and application of the goods. This means in particular that liability for normal wear and tear is excluded. Any necessary equipment is the responsibility of the customer. We do not accept any liability for changes to the product characteristics caused by equipment provided subsequently at the customer's request.

The customer must report obvious defects, in writing, no later than 5 days from receipt of the goods. The customer must provide written notice of concealed defects immediately upon identification thereof. To comply with the written form requirement, it is sufficient to send the notice by fax or e-mail. In the case of delayed notice of defects, the goods delivered are deemed to have been accepted.

The customer is not permitted to process visibly defective goods or goods with respect to which complaints have been lodged. Otherwise, all rights based on the defectiveness of the goods are excluded.

Technically unavoidable minor deviations in quality, colour, width, height, weight, equipment, or design are permissible and do not constitute defects. The same applies to customary industry deviations unless delivery in accordance with the sample has been explicitly agreed in writing.

If the goods are defective and are not deemed to have been accepted, the customer can demand defect-free subsequent performance. At our discretion subsequent performance will be provided either by subsequent improvement or by new delivery unless another form of subsequent performance is evidently unsuitable or unreasonable for the customer. Any deadline set by the customer for the subsequent performance is reasonable only if it is at least 14 days. The deadline must be set in writing. If the subsequent performance is unsuccessful at least twice or if it is not carried out during the appropriate additional period set, in writing, by the customer, the customer may reduce the purchase price or cancel the contract.

Liability

We are liable for intentional or grossly negligent acts, as well as for non-compliance with guarantees, where we have assumed a procurement risk, or in the case of culpable damage to life, limb, and health. Furthermore, we are liable pursuant to the Product Liability Act.

Otherwise, our liability for slightly negligent breach of obligations is limited to foreseeable damage typical of this kind of contract. This limitation of liability applies to both contractual and statutory claims and to the personal liability of our staff, employees, workers, representatives, and agents.

Retention of Title

All goods delivered by us remain our property until such time as the customer has paid all claims arising from the business relationship, including claims arising in future, in particular any current account balance. If our (co-) ownership lapses as a result of combination or processing, it is deemed agreed that the (co-) ownership of the customer in the combined item passes to us proportionate to the value (invoice value). The customer has the right to sell the goods in the course of standard business operations provided they are not in default. In this context, the customer assigns the purchase price claims to which they are entitled as a result of the onward sale of the goods subject to retention of title to us as security for our claims. The onward sale is also made subject to retention of title. Pledge and assignment as security are impermissible under all circumstances. The customer is required to notify us immediately of any restriction to the existing security.

If the goods subject to retention of title are combined, mixed, or processed together with a movable object, this is carried out on behalf of us as the manufacturer pursuant to Section 950 BGB, without this resulting in any liabilities for us. The customer thus does not acquire ownership in the new item as a result of combination, mixing or processing. If the goods subject to the retention of title are combined with items not owned by us, we acquire co-ownership in the new item proportionate to the invoice value of the goods subject to retention of title to the total value of all combined items.

If the customer has involved a central claims settlement agency (e.g. a purchasing association) to deal with transactions with us, our retention of title in the goods subject to the retention of title as well as all security rights in its place expire only upon payment of the purchase price to us by the central claims settlement agency. The customer hereby assigns all claims including all ancillary rights relating to the onward sale of the goods subject to retention of title – including any current account balance claims – to us. If the goods were processed, combined, or blended and if we have acquired co-ownership proportionate to the invoice value of the goods subject to retention of title, we are entitled to a corresponding share in the purchase price claim. If the customer sold the claim in the course of non-recourse factoring, the customer assigns the claim against the factor to us and forwards the proportionate share in the sales proceeds based on our rights in the goods. The customer is required to notify the factor of the assignment if they are in default of paying an invoice or their financial circumstances deteriorate to a significant degree.

We accept the assignments by the customer in the foregoing clause. The customer is authorised to collect the assigned claims provided they are not in default of payment and their financial circumstances do not significantly deteriorate. As soon as the authorisation to collect claims lapses on the aforementioned grounds, we are entitled to notify the customer's buyers of the assignment of the claim and to collect the claims ourselves. The customer must provide us with all information necessary for the assertion of the assigned claims and permit the review of this information. They must at any time at our request provide a precise list of the claims to which they are entitled, stating names and addresses of the buyers, the amount of the individual claims, invoice date, etc. If the value of the security furnished in our favor exceeds all of our claims by more than 10 %, we are required at the customer's request to release security at our discretion. The customer does not have the right to pledge or assign as security the goods subject to retention of title or the claims assigned to us. The customer must notify us immediately of any seizure of the goods subject to retention of title or the assigned claims, stating the pledgee. The customer must furthermore provide us with all information and documentation required for us to assert our rights. The executory officer or a third party must be notified of our ownership. The customer must bear all costs incurred in order to reverse the seizure and reacquire the goods subject to retention of title, provided these cannot be recovered from third parties.

If the customer is in breach of contract, in particular if they are in default of payment, we have the right to take back the goods. The taking back of goods does not constitute cancellation of the contract unless this is explicitly stated, in writing. We are authorised to utilise as we see fit any goods subject to retention of title that we take back. The proceeds of such utilisation are to be offset against the customer's liabilities, less reasonable utilisation costs.

The customer must safely store the goods subject to retention of title and insure them to the customary extent against the usual risks such as e.g. fire, theft, and water damage. The customer hereby assigns the compensation claims against insurance companies or other parties liable to pay compensation relating to loss events of the kind outlined in the foregoing in the amount of the invoice value in the goods subject to retention of title. We hereby accept such assignment. As a rule, the customer is permitted to carry out factoring for their accounts receivable. However, the customer must inform us before entering into any contingent liabilities.

Payment Terms

Net 30 days from invoice date. For order values upwards of £ 4,000, a deposit of 30 % must be made, for order values upwards of £ 6,000, a 50 % deposit is due. Customary default interest will be charged on payments made after the due date. The customer is entitled to offset, retention or reduction, also in the case of claims based on defects and/or if counterclaims are asserted, only if the counterclaims have been determined without further legal recourse or are uncontested. In the case of late payment, we reserve the right to charge the interest charged by business banks for unpaid overdrafts, but at least 4 % above the basic interest rate of the European Central Bank, plus our dunning expenses.

If the customer involves a centralised authority (e.g. a purchasing association) in the payment, the receipt of the sum on our account is decisive for the payment date. Payments will always be used first to cover interest accrued and then to cover the oldest due claim. The offsetting against and retention of due invoice amounts is permissible only with respect to claims that are uncontested or have been determined without further legal recourse. This also applies in the case of suspension of payment by us. Other deductions (e.g. postage charges) are not permitted.

Refusal of Performance in the event of Default of Payment

In the event of default of payment, impending insolvency, or other material deterioration in the financial circumstances of the customer, we are entitled to make all further deliveries under current contracts conditional upon the customer making advance payment or providing other appropriate security.

Furthermore, we are entitled to demand from the customer, cancelling all agreed payment dates, that they settle all current payment claims within an additional period of 14 days. On expiry of this deadline, we are entitled to cancel all existing contracts with the customer and to demand compensation in lieu of performance.
